

Mike Wuergler

Communications Executive, Leadership Consultant, and Speaker

Topics

Personal and Interpersonal Effectiveness

Productivity

Clients appreciate Mike Wuergler's ability to help them execute their highest priorities so they can achieve their desired results.

Mike Wuergler's clients represent a number of industries including banking and finance, entertainment, technology, healthcare, automotive, and telecommunications. He has also successfully worked with branches of the U.S. Armed Forces and several federal government agencies. Clients recognize him as a valued partner and invite him back again and again.

Prior to joining FranklinCovey, Mike served in various executive suites in the motion picture and television production industries. He was a producer of syndicated television programming at Walt Disney Productions as well as a member of Disney's Show Development Team for Disneyland and Walt Disney World. He has produced four feature films and was nominated for an Emmy Award for directing a television special saluting troops returning from Operation Desert Storm. Mike left a successful career as CEO of a publicly traded communications company to join the Covey Leadership Center (now FranklinCovey).

Mike developed a successful consulting practice resulting in his becoming the Chief Operating Officer of the American Television Network. As the consultant hired by the venture capital firm, he also became Chief Operating Officer of Alternative Network Television, Inc. Earlier in his career he was President of Comworld International.

Mike was granted membership in FranklinCovey's President's Club in recognition of his outstanding contributions. He also serves as Master Trainer for international operations in Europe, the Middle East, and Africa.

Accomplishments

- B.A., Art, emphasis in television and motion picture production, University of Colorado
- Former CEO, American Television Network
- Former COO, Alternative Network Television
- Produced 4 feature films
- FranklinCovey's President's Club
- Master Trainer, international operations in Europe, Middle East, and Africa

To schedule Mike Wuergler
Call 1-888-554-1776